

DARRELL UTT

Chief Business Operations

Darrell Utt, Chief of Business Operations, has contributed to numerous leadership capacities across the globe as a Senior Member of the U.S. Army Special Forces (Green Berets). During multiple combat deployments to Iraq, he was awarded four (4) Bronze Star Medals, the Bronze Star Medal with Valor for heroic actions and leadership in Baghdad, Iraq (2006), the Larry Thorne Award for Best Operational Detachment in 10th Special Forces Group (2006), and a recipient of the Robert T. Frederick Award for military excellence (2007).

Following Darrell's military service, he served as the Director of Security and Director of Operations at the Museum of the Bible in Washington, D.C. and as a board-certified security consultant for the Protective Design and Security Division at the world-renowned engineering firm, Thornton Tomasetti.

Darrell has also provided physical security strategies and day-to-day operational expertise to key executives representing the following museums:

- The Milken Center for Advancing the American Dream (MCAAD), Washington, D.C.
- National Museum of Intelligence and Special Operations (NMISO), Ashburn, Virginia
- The Contemporary Jewish Museum, San Francisco, California
- The Holocaust Museum for Hope and Humanity, Orlando, Florida

Darrell earned his Master of Arts in Intelligence Studies from American Public University, and a Bachelor of Science degree from Excelsior College in Albany, New York.

Although not born and raised in the great state of Texas, Darrell claims Texas as his "home" state.

KEVIN BASIK

Chief of Leadership Programs

Dr. Kevin Basik has spent over 25 years studying and applying values-based leadership development. He is an internationally-recognized speaker, a published scholar, an award-winning instructor, a recognized developmental expert, and most importantly-- a proven leader.

A 1993 graduate of the United States Air Force Academy, Kevin earned his Master's in Industrial and Organizational Psychology from Virginia Tech, and his PhD in Organizational Behavior from Florida State University's College of Business, studying the concept of "behavioral integrity" as a driver of trust.

Kevin has successfully led in positions ranging from small units to international organizations of over 16,000 members. In addition, he personally directed and delivered highly-recognized leadership development programs for students, faculty, managers, Special Operations warriors, law enforcement officers, elite athletes, senior government officials and Fortune 500 corporate executives.

He is a 23-year officer veteran of the US Air Force, and in his most recent assignment, served as one of the top advisors to Pentagon senior leaders on issues of Professionalism and values-based leadership, impacting the development of 3.2 million service members. He is recognized as one of the DoD's top thought leaders in leadership development, and has traveled around the world speaking to service members at all levels on professionalism and values-based leadership.

Kevin is the President of BasikInsight, a company dedicated to energizing, enlightening, and equipping organizations to lead with character.